HOW TURKS MAKE COFFEE.

It isn't Easy, but the Product is Delightful in Its Flavor.
To make the perfect cup of Turkish coffee is, like many other things, very easy when the maker knows how to do it, but unless the art has been learned in Turkey it is difficult.
No one can make a perfect cup of coffee unless he has been to Turkey. There is as much difference between the ordinary cup of coffee and the exquisite and alluring beverage with all its subtle aroma as made by the artist as there is between horseflesh and the best English beef. The Turkish method is simple. They have many little pots of various sizes. If they want to make two cups only they use the smaller one, and if three cups a larger one. When the water has boiled they fill the little pot almost to the top with water, then put in three lumps of sugar and put the pot on the fire to boil. When it is hot they put in two teaspoonsful of coffee ground very fine and then stir it round until it is thoroughly mixed with the water.
The next step is to place the pot on the fire again and watch it very carefully until the coffee bubbles up to a froth, and before this froth escapes over the side you take the pot from the fire and tap the bottom gently on the stove till the froth goes down. Once again the coffee is allowed to bubble over the fire, and the process of tapping the pot on the stove is repeated three times.
When the froth rises to the surface for the fourth time the pot should be taken from the fire and the coffee should be poured into one cup and then into another so that each cup contains a portion of the froth on the top.
The Englishman cannot make coffee at all. He tries hard, but never succeeds either in making a perfect cup of Turkish or French coffee. The Frenchman, on the other hand, also tries hard to make a perfect cup of Turkish coffee, but he needs with little more success than the Englishman.
One thing must never be forgotten—the coffee must be freshly roasted and ground. It must not be roasted too black. A dark brown is the ideal color. Then the flavor is divine.—Boston Globe.

FOR THOSE WHO THINK.

Don't dally with your purpose.
Character is the poor man's capital.
Men call their own carelessness and inactivity fate.
The lucky man is the one who grasps his opportunity.
The largest room in the world is the room for self improvement.
We get out of life just what we put into it. The world has for us just what we have for it.
Don't brood over the past or dream of the future, but use the instant and get your lesson from the hour.
Stock taking every day is a great aid to advancement. Stop and add yourself up at the close of each day and see if you have anything to carry over. If you have nothing but ciphers to carry over something is wrong somewhere.—Success.

Pickwick in Livery.

The dignity of some fat coachmen in New York is very impressive. Their development is outlined distinctly by their coats. They have swelled steadily and persistently year after year, and every now and then the coats have been let out and the buttons moved to accommodate increasing inches of girth. A coachman's figure has a great deal to do with his success. The attempts of fat men to look lean sometimes verge on the humorous. They hold their heads high to escape the imputation of obesity and puff out their chests heroically. But with all their hauteur, pomposity and pretensions bearing they look only like very fat men in tight clothes, reminiscent of Pickwick in livery.—New York Press.

The Dead Man's Threat.

Returning home recently, a woman who had taken out a summons against her husband, a painter's laborer, on account of his ill treatment, saw by the light of the moon her husband standing, as she thought, behind the door ready to strike her. She ran away, but it was after she discovered that the man was hanging by a rope from a ventilator over the door with his feet almost touching the floor. He was dead.—London Mail.

Payne, an examiner at Cambridge university, whose questions were always of a peculiarly expasperating nature, once asked a student at a special examination to "give a definition of happiness."
"An exemption from Payne," was the reply.

EVIDENCE ALL IN.

Argument in Abel Trial Begun this Afternoon.

SPECIAL TO THE REPUBLICAN.
FRANKLIN, Ind., Jan. 25, (2:30 p. m.) The taking of evidence in the Abel trial was concluded at noon today and argument was begun at 1:30 this afternoon. The court allows seven hours, three and a half on a side, for the argument.
Prosecutor Fremont Miller opened the argument for the state and was followed by Oscar H. Montgomery for the defense. He was followed by W. W. Lambert for the state and C. J. Kollmeyer for the defense. The closing arguments Tuesday forenoon will be made by W. J. Beck for the defense and Jas. F. Cox for the state.
The case will go to the jury at noon Tuesday.

FRANKLIN, Ind., Jan. 25.—Before court adjourned Saturday the state almost completed the taking of rebuttal testimony. They will get through this morning and then the defense will put some more witnesses on the stand. Argument will likely begin this afternoon.

The final testimony of the defendant related to his trip to Seymour on May 16 and his trip to Columbus. He denied ever drawing a pistol on Fremont Passwater or Al Bozell or M. C. Reeves. Said Geo. Schlechter insulted him after the killing of Chas. Abel.

Never had any previous trouble with Schlechter; that he did not say after the fatal shot that he told Chas. Abel he would kill him and was glad of it.

Frank Abel swore that he saw the trouble between his father and John Ford and that Ford drew a revolver.

On rebuttal Henry Seale swore that defendant's reputation for truth and veracity was bad; that Chas. Abel's reputation for peace and quietude was good. August Keel testified to the same thing.

William Bess, Hugh Quick, George Nentrup, A. E. Yeager, and Fremont Passwater testified that defendant's reputation for truth and morality was bad and that the general reputation of Chas. Abel for peace and quietude was good. Hugh Quick testified that John Ford, George Schlechter and others were enemies of defendant and had sought to work up a sentiment against him.

John Ford testified that he did not choke Cudwith Abel or draw a revolver on him May 15, that he had not threatened to kill defendant. Ford became vehement while on the stand and made statements that were stricken from the record.

An effort was made by the state to discredit the testimony of Nettie Gossett, several witnesses testifying that they did not see her about the scene of the tragedy that night. Samuel Ross testified that he saw Nettie Gossett at the scene of the murder shortly after it occurred. A. E. Yeager also swore that he saw her there.

He and other testified that her reputation for truth and veracity was good. Frank Corrum, for the state, who testified that he saw John Johnson the night of May 16, after the shooting; that Johnson said in Ford's saloon in witness' hearing that he did not know why Cudwith had killed Charley; that Charles was not doing anything.

Edward Blanch testified to the same thing. Mrs. Hugh Quick was called but her husband said she was at home sick but might be able to attend the trial on Monday.

On cross-examination Mr. Quick testified that he had heard of Nettie Gossett having a conversation with Joe Hazzard about being given money to testify.

WAGNER'S HOME.

How the Great Composer Came to Live in Baireuth.

How Wagner came to make Baireuth his home is a rather interesting story. He had long dreamed of possessing a theater where his compositions could be interpreted to suit his ideas, but had little hope that the dream would ever be fulfilled. When, however, in his period of greatest depression and loneliness he formed the friendship of the late king of Bavaria it seemed suddenly as if all his hopes were possible to him. In 1867 his royal protector instructed the celebrated architect, Gottfried Semper, to prepare the plans for the theater, which was to be built at Munich. Through political and professional dissensions and jealousies the town council of Munich refused permission for the erection of the theater there. In 1871 Wagner visited Baireuth and, after taking counsel with the celebrated bankers, Messrs. Fenstel and Gross, decided upon a site in that city. The municipality of the town, correctly estimating the financial advantages which would accrue, presented Wagner with two plots of land, one for the theater and the other for his own house. The latter was immediately built, and in 1872 Wagner removed his family from Trubchen, near Lucerne, to the new home, Wahnfried. The corner stone of the theater was laid on his sixtieth birthday, May 22, 1872. It was estimated that the theater would cost 300,000 thalers (about $250,000), and this sum was very largely raised by Wagner societies throughout the world. It was completed in 1876 and dedicated with the presentation of "Der Ring des Nibelungen" on Aug. 13 of that year. Since then it has been the Mecca of the lovers of Wagnerian music from all parts of the world.

HON. J. F. STYRON.

Cured of Deep Seated Cough and a Dangerous Condition by Vinol.

Hundreds of people right here in Seymour are coughing, sneezing, shivering, and trying all sorts of cough mixtures, old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions which only upset the stomach and fail to cure the condition.

Why waste time and remain miserable when we guarantee our delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. It contains every one of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil without a drop of oil to nauseate and upset the stomach and retard its work, and no sickening drugs. Vinol will cure that hard cold, hacking cough, throat or bronchial trouble, and if it fails we pay back your money.

The Hon. J. F. Styron, of Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I suffered with a deep-seated cough which nothing seemed to help; my head was all stopped up, and my throat sore and irritated. My lungs ached all the time, and I had tried so many remedies without benefit that my stomach was all out of order, and food nauseated me. Vinol was recommended: I dreaded taking it, for I dislike cod liver oil, but to my surprise, the taste of the cod liver oil was disguised entirely; it is delicious, and soon it toned up my stomach, restored my appetite, cured my cough and made me feel like a new man. Vinol is a wonderful cod liver oil preparation, and it cures bronchial, lung and stomach troubles quicker than any remedy I ever heard of. I have recommended it to a great many people and always with the best results."

We wish every person in Seymour suffering from a hard cold, hacking cough, throat or bronchial troubles which have run down their system, would try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

YACHT RACING.

This Expensive Sport Was Begun in England in 1662.

Though vessels answering to the character of yachts were in use by royal personages from an early date—Queen Elizabeth, for instance, had one built at Cowes, Isle of Wight, in 1588—the word "yacht" was not used until the year 1660, when the Dutch presented a "yacht" named the Mary to Charles II., says the London Chronicle. In Evelyn's Diary, under Oct. 1, 1661, occurs the entry, "I sailed this morning with his majesty in one of his yachts, vessels not known among us till the Dutch East India company presented that curious piece to the king being very excellent sailing vessels."

Yacht racing commenced in 1662, when Charles II., who had some yachts built for him by Sir Phineas Pett, waged $500 that a yacht of his would beat a Dutch one owned by his brother, the Duke of York, afterward James II.

But the growth of yacht sailing was slow, and it is not until 1720 that an authentic record of a yacht club is found, in which year the Cork Harbor Water club, now known as the Royal Cork Yacht club, was formed. In 1812 a similar club, the Yacht club, was formed at Cowes by some fifty yachtsmen. This club in 1820 attracted the notice of the Duke of Clarence, afterward William IV., when its title was altered to the Duke of Clarence and Cowes. Fourteen years later William IV. presented the first royal cup to this club. But in 1851 only 500 yachts were in existence. Since the international yacht race of that year the increase in the number has been immense.

In America, the Chronicle says, "the sport may be said to have commenced in 1814, in which year the New York Yacht club was formed, and the history of that club is practically the history of American yachting."

WOMAN CRUELLY MURDERED.

Bedford Is Aroused By a Fiendish Crime.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 23.—Miss Sarah Schafer of Elkhart, Latin teacher in the local high school, was outraged and murdered here in the most fiendish manner imaginable. She was the most popular teacher in the school and was a social favorite. Feeling is very high and if anyone is caught who cannot readily clear himself of the crime there will be a lynching.

It is the supposition that the young woman was waylaid by someone familiar with her way to and from the school building, and that she was assaulted. There is every evidence that she made a terrible struggle but that she was evidently beaten down as she passed a private alley opening into one of the prominent streets, and that she was then dragged about fifty feet to a shed, where she was killed.

Rain was falling steadily at the time the assault must have been committed and but few people were on the street. No one in the neighborhood heard a scream or any sounds of a struggle. Her assailant evidently stifled her cries when he first attacked her. Her death wound came from a blow over the forehead and left temple, inflicted with a blunt instrument. It is thought that a brick picked up in the alley along which she was dragged was the weapon used. The city council has offered a reward of $500 and the county a like amount, making a total of $1,000, for the arrest and conviction of the principal or principals guilty of the assault and murder.

Gastronomic experiments should be made with extreme caution. Nothing is of greater importance than to partake of those foods which best equip the body for its work.

THREE INDICTED

Result of Investigation of Elkhart Bank Failure by Federal Grand Jury.

FIERCE LEGAL BATTLE

That Brown, Broderick and Collins Will Plead Not Guilty is a Foregone Conclusion.

Alleged Bank Wreckers Will be Arraigned in Federal Court Wednesday.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The action of the federal grand jury in indicting Walter Brown, J. L. Brodrick and W. I. Collins for complicity in the failure of the Elkhart bank is still the topic of conversation here and the arraignment of the prisoners before Judge Anderson here on Wednesday, when they will be obliged to enter their pleas, is being awaited with the greatest interest. That the men will all plead not guilty is regarded as a foregone conclusion. The trials will be set for some time in March probably. It is the understanding that Judge Anderson wishes to get the cases out of the way before the May term of court opens, and as considerable time may be required to hear all the evidence, March will probably be selected for the trials. That the cases will be contested at every point goes without saying, and a long and fierce legal battle is awaited.

It Caused a Sensation.

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 25.—An itemized statement of the charges against Brodrick, Collins and Brown published in a local paper caused a sensation that was second only to that resulting from the closing of the bank on Nov. 19. The public had been prepared for the indictments of all three, but it was not surmised that the counts would be so numerous or the sums involved so great.

A SHOCKING CRIME

Pike County Aroused Over Horrid Deed of Human Brutes.

Petersburg, Ind., Jan. 25.—At Gladish Chapel, four miles west of Petersburg, Mrs. Lafe Dedman was assaulted by five young men. Lafe Dedman and his wife are half-witted people who spend part of the time in the county poorhouse and a part of it roaming over the country among their relatives. They were passing through Madison township at night and stopped to sleep in Gladish Chapel. The scoundrels entered the church and held Dedman at the point of a revolver while they successively assaulted his wife.

Posses of officers and citizens were formed immediately upon receipt of Dedman's information, and a thorough search of the country near here was instituted. Dedman charges Willard Catt with being the leader of the gang, and others are thought to be known. Catt was arrested and while trying to fix his bond, escaped and is again at large. An eighteen-year-old youth named Thomas and a fourteen-year-old boy named Sumner were apprehended by Clinton Thomas, father of the first, at Flora, Ill., and were returned to Pike county. They are heavily guarded at a secret spot near Petersburg. Open threats of lynching have compelled the authorities to take every precaution against any outbreak.

The Horrors of Drink.

Peru, Ind., Jan. 25.—Harry Burrell, aged twenty-three, died in a terrible manner. He had a position as saloon porter. He sprained an ankle badly and was removed to the county infirmary. During the night he rushed from the building in a frenzy of delirium tremens, and while wandering around the country road broke the injured ankle so badly that the bone protruded and he had to walk on it. When found by Superintendent Ellis he was sitting down, but the bone had entered the ground more than an inch. Several men had to hold him in bed until death relieved his sufferings.

Kept Her Presence of Mind.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Frank Warner, wife of the president of the Standard Brick company of this city, awoke to find a man climbing into her room through the window. She drew a revolver from beneath her pillow and fired point-blank at the intruder. The man fell back with a moan and disappeared. Mrs. Warner, who was alone in the house with her children, telephoned the police. Blood was found on the window sill.

Suit to Recover Gaming Losses.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 25.—Edwin J. Travis, manager of a grain elevator at New Haven, recently lost $700 belonging to his brother, the proprietor, in the gambling rooms run by Brown & Sprangler. He has brought suit against them to recover the money, which was lost in a game that lasted three days and nights.

Bones Found in Ruins.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 25.—A small basket full of charred bones was found by the police in the ruins of the Home hotel, which was destroyed by an explosion early Thursday morning. It has not been determined as to whether the bones are those of a human or some animal.

STORY OF AN OYSTER

TOLD BY HIMSELF ABOUT HIMSELF AND HIS TRIBE.

The Trials and Tribulations of the Sacculent Bivalve From the Time of Planting Until His Appearance on the Fishmonger's Counter.

There were about 900,000 of us when, as tiny flakes of spawn—or "spat," as the oyster spawn is called—we floated out into the water one day on "the flats."

At first we were white and apparently lifeless. Then we turned gray and finally black. At this stage we became visibly alive. For several days we floated, the sport of waves and tides. Some of my brothers were carried out to sea and so vanished; others were swallowed by fish. At last we all began instinctively to sink toward the bottom.

Then began again terrible destruction. Many fell on mud—the most fatal thing a young oyster can do. These perished at once. Others attached themselves to plants and weeds which grew at the bottom of the sea. They lived for a time—so long at least as the plant remained alive. Then, when the plant died, they perished as well.

Fortunately for myself, I drifted on to a bit of "culch"—that is to say, one of the old shells which the dredgers and oyster men so carefully scatter all over the sea floor of an oyster bed. I settled with my deep shell uppermost and my flat or right shell nearer the ground. At the time I did not know why I did this. I have since realized that it was because in that position I should be more easily able to eject the sand and grit which a rough sea sometimes stirs up to shallow water. I attached myself firmly to my anchorage of "culch" and felt myself at last fairly started in life.

Soon I noticed that every single morsel of shell or stone around me was tenanted by tiny oysters, all lying in the same position as myself and all firmly anchored.

There I lay, unmoving, for nearly a year. Food, in the shape of tiny animalcules, which an oyster loves best, was plentiful. When the water was thick with it, we all opened our shells wide, and making currents in the water by means of the tiny hairs which fringe our gills and which men call our beards, we washed the dainties into our mouths. Our choicest delicacies were the minute green algae, which give to full grown oysters that greenish tinge that is the mark of the aristocratic native.

When I first anchored myself, I was but the twentieth of an inch in diameter—so small, indeed, that a microscope would have been necessary to examine me. At that stage my shell was perfectly transparent.

At the end of ten months I had increased in diameter to fully the size of a dime and become what is called "brood."

During all this time I had been learning many things. I found out that it was necessary to close my shell tight when dangers of various kinds threatened, when the tide was low or, in winter, when frost was severe. You may perhaps imagine that an oyster is a creature of such low organism that it cannot see or feel much of what is going on round about it. But you are wrong. The mantle fringe of an oyster is very sensitive. If you watched us from a boat in calm water, you would see that the mere shadow of the boat crossing an oyster bed will cause those of us upon whom it falls to close our shells immediately.

It was necessary to be most careful. Dangers were many and terrible. Sea urchins prowled among us and devoured many. But of all our foes the worst is the five-fingered starfish. One of my sisters, anchored not a yard away, fell a victim to this terror of the oyster beds. It clutched her with its long fingers. She closed her shell.

But the creature was not to be shaken off. Hour after hour it clung there until on the second day after its first grip sate, poor thing, opened her shell to get a mouthful of food. At once the starfish injected into her a fluid which stupefied her so that she could not close again. Then the monster turned itself inside out, shot itself into the open shell and devoured her.

Then, one day a year after I had floated as "spat," came a startling change in my existence. Something huge and heavy came out of the shadow of a boat above and approached, rasping and grating along the bottom. It was a great triangular dredge of wrought iron. At the bottom was a flat bar with a blunt edge, known to the dredgers as the "bit."

As the "bit" approached it scraped the bottom of the sea clean, and next instant I, too, found myself lifted and dropped into the net, together with hundreds like myself and a miscellaneous collection of small soles and other things.

One of the men sorted over the catch and, having selected all the oysters and spat, "shaded" the rest back into the sea through a porthole.

I, in company with enormous quantities of other brood, was put into a "wash"—a measure holding five or a quarter gallons—and relaid. Here life was less eventful and food most plentiful. To fatten well an oyster must have a certain amount of fresh water.

In this snug retreat I passed from brood to half ware and from half ware to ware, or full grown oyster. But I still went on growing and developing, until one day the dredge swept me up again, and I was raised once more into the upper air and rapidly brought in.

I was then dropped into a large bag and suspended in a tank of fresh sea water, which is constantly renewed. There I await my final fate, which will, I fear, be a fishmonger's counter.—New York News.

ANTS KIDNAP THEIR FOES.
Raid Neighboring Villages and Carry Off Many Prisoners.
Dr. H. C. McCook tells of a species of kidnapping ants which make organized attacks on other ant villages for the purpose of capturing slaves. Here is an account of the attack:
"At last the matter is complete. Mysteriously, but effectively, the signal 'Forward!' is given, and the column moves from the hill. There is no regular alignment, but a show of solidarity, a holding of the ranks within close compass and touch—a 'roust step.' In fact, there is no general; there are no subordinate officers, but such is the sympathetic unity that they seem to move in response to one will and command. If every warrior is a lay unto himself the law so binds and animates and compels all alike that the ends of an organized cohort are served.
"Assault, battle and pillage follow quickly upon the sortie. The objective point of the march is not far away. A hundred yards distant is a Fuscan village. The route thereto lies across the edge of a grove, over a footpath, along a fallen tree, under whose shelter and shaded by tufts of grass is the devoted commune. It is feeble in numbers, and there is a bare show of defense as the freebooters hurl themselves upon the hill and plunge into the open gates. The villagers flee at the first onset through massed or secret passages. Some run the gantlet through the assailing ranks. All who can carry a part of the family treasures—eggs, larvae and pupae. Like their Brobdingnagian brothers of the human race, when disaster befalls their first care is for their offspring. The fugitives mount into nearby clumps of low wood plants, whence they look down upon the devastation of their homes—with what feelings? For one must suppose that the midgits do feel, though sometimes he would fain hope otherwise.
"Meanwhile the invaders issue from the gates, bearing in their jaws the Fuscan young and occasionally an adult. They take the home trail, but not in ordered ranks. It is so as you please now. They are welcomed back by their black confederates, who receive the captives and take them—their own sisters perhaps—into the domestic quarters. The soldiers hurry back to the scene of action, for their work is not yet finished."—Harper's Magazine.

Another Way Out.

In one of Glasgow's finely laid out cemeteries a rich citizen, who was notorious as a skeptic, had erected a massive mausoleum on what he terms "his ancestral plot." One day he met a worthy elder of the kirk coming away from the vicinity of the imposing mass of masonry, so he said to him, "Well, Davit, ye've been up seein' that grand erection o' mine?"
"Deed, hiv I, sir."
"Gey strong place that, isn't it? It'll tak' a man at his time tae raise out o' yon at the day o' judgment."
"Hoot, na mon," said David, "ye can gie yerself little fash about risin' gin that day comes. They'll tak' the bottom out o' o' tae let ye fa' doon."—Spare Moments.

world's fair is in progress. Numerous additional trains in both directions will be put on so that Hoosiers will find it merely a "step" from Indiana to the exposition.

BEDFORD MURDER MYSTERY.

The Slayer of Miss Schafer Still Unknown.

It was currently reported on the streets here today that a well known young man at Bedford had been arrested, charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Schafer, but at three o'clock this afternoon the Bedford Democrat telephoned the REPUBLICAN that the report was not true. That no arrest had been made up to that time.

It was told here by men coming from Bedford today that a cuff-button had been found in the alley through which the young woman was dragged to the cab shed and that the mate to it had been found in this young man's room.
The Bedford Democrat denies that story oo, and also another one that bloody clothes were found in his room. This young man was at Bloomington this morning.

The detectives and Bedford officers conducting the investigation were in secret conference this afternoon but whether they have evidence to fasten the crime on any one the public does not know at this time. To the people of Bedford, we are informed, the murder is as much of a mystery today as when the body of Miss Schafer was found Friday morning.
The suspect arrested and held at Crothersville on suspicion proved not to be the right man and we understand has been released.

TOO FREE WITH HIS GUN.

George Knott of Columbus, Taken Off to Jail.

One George Knott, a Columbus character, started a rough house over on Meyer street here Saturday night, was taken in by the police, given a preliminary hearing Monday morning before Judge Wesner on the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill and in default of $500 bond was taken to jail at Brownstown.

Saturday night he went to the home of Charity Quires on Meyer street he says to see his wife who is a sister of the Quires woman and lives with her.
Knott and his wife have lived apart for some time. He met Benj. Disney there and a quarrel ensued. Knott drew a revolver and fired at Disney but missed him. Only the one shot was fired. Knott denies shooting, but his wife and others testified that he did.
The evidence was pretty strong against him therefore he is held for grand jury action.

Knott is said to have been sent to the Reformatory from Columbus and that he is now out on parole.

Way Down East.

"Way Down East" which has been so successful the past five years will be seen at the Seymour theatre on Friday night. It is a delightful play of New England life. The scenic effects will be very beautiful and elaborate.
The farm pictures and the snowstorm scene lend themselves well to stage realism. Sale of seats open Wednesday at 9 o'clock.

Young Mer—Trust thyself, make your heart vibrate with an iron string.
Make yourself a man among men.
Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do the business. 35 cents, tea and tablet form. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

At the opera house February 22nd will be given one of the most gorgeous entertainments ever seen in this city.
Two hundred children and young ladies will take part. It will be under the management of Mrs. Xaupl, of St.
Louis, and those who remember "The Sleeping Beauty" she gave here some years ago, will not need to be urged to see this.

DEDICATION AT BROWNSTOWN.

New Christian Church Has a Successful Day.

Sunday January 24, was a red letter day for the Christian church at Brownstown. Their new church building was dedicated by Elder L. L. Carpenter, of Wabash, assisted by Elder Crappell, of Columbus. Despite the bad roads, a good sized audience was present at the services which continued all day. The dedicatory sermon by Elder Carpenter was preached in the morning. At noon the ladies of the church served dinner in the dining room at the school house and everyone enjoyed the hospitality of the sisters of the church. The meeting was continued during the afternoon and at night Elder Carpenter preached again. The indebtedness on the church was $1800 and $1914 was raised during the day, clearing the indebtedness with a small balance additional.
The church was organized in August, 1839, by Elder Jacob Wright.
For several years they worshipped in the old Baptist church, afterward in the Ewing school house. In 1865 a frame building was erected. Last June the congregation decided to erect a new building and work was begun shortly afterward. The pastor of the church is Elder H. A. Wingard. The building committee is composed of Wm. C. Ball, Jonathan Robertson,
James W. Wayman, O. S. Brooke,
Dr. D. J. Cummings, James F. Keach, Henry Rust, William Knost and H.
A. Wingard.

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that for persis-ent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Cal., writes, "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known.
I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by W. F. Peter

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Arthur Love in a Railroad Accident in Illinois.

A message was received here Sunday announcing the death of Arthur Love, a son of Alex Love, of Chestnut Ridge, in Illinois. Full particulars of his death have not been learned here yet.
It is known that he was some-sort of an accident Sunday morning about 7:30 while in the line of duty as brakeman on the Wabash Central; that after the accident he was taken to Decatur where he died about 10:30 Sunday forenoon. Just the nature of his injuries the relatives do not know at this time. A message announcing his death was sent to his sister, Miss Helen Love, at Indianapolis, and she notified the relatives here.
The remains are expected to arrive here this—Monday—evening and will be taken to Chestnut Ridge for burial.
The hour set for the funeral is 10:30
Tuesday forenoon at the Chestnut Ridge church.
Arthur Love would have been twenty seven years old April 17. He has been on the Illinois road for about two months. Prior to that he was on a road in Pennsylvania.

SSS

THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

TAKES A NEW START

Winter After a Brief Rest Resumes Active Business.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Extreme cold weather is recorded in various sections of the North and West. The cold wave extends over a wide area, embracing the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the Western lake region. Particularly severe weather is reported in the Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Northeastern Nebraska, Northwestern Iowa, Northern Illinois and Indiana and portions of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The thermometer in this city Sunday registered 11 degrees below zero.
There is suffering among the poor people and many of the homeless applied at the police stations for shelter. The weather bureau observer says that it is possible that the mercury may go to 20 below tonight and that the cold wave will last several days yet.

At St. Paul Sunday the minimum on the official thermometer was 33 degrees below zero. Other thermometers registered as low as 40. Bismark reported 28 and Superior, Wis., 36. In a number of places in the Northwest it was the coldest weather of the year.
A severe blizzard raged at Houghton, Mich.

They Stuck to Their Posts.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Fire in the Masonic Temple caused a panic among the 4,000 occupants of the building and damaged the stock and fixtures of tenants to the extent of $20,000. All occupants of the building escaped without dangerous injury through the bravery of the elevator men, who remained at their posts, operating their cars while dense clouds of smoke filled the building.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred and one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c;

ACTS OF CONGRESS

What Will Engage Attention of National Legislators This Week.

BIG BILLS IN THE HOUSE

Army and Urgent Deficiency Bills
Will Hold the Lower Branch Several Days.

In the Senate the Week Will Be Taken Up in Panama Canal Discussion.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The house will devote practically the entire week to consideration of the army and urgent deficiency appropriation bills.
The former is now before the house, and Chairman Hemenway of the committee on appropriations, has given

CONGRESSMAN JAMES A. HEMENWAY.

notice that the latter measure will be called immediately upon the disposition of the former. Friday will be private calendar day. Opportunity will be given each day immediately on convening or just before adjourning to secure action upon minor measures, but any bill which is likely to precipitate a debate will not be permitted to come before the house during the pendency of the two appropriation bills mentioned.

The army bill is being read under the five-minute rule in committee of the whole for purposes of amendment and thus far less than one-third of its provisions have been considered. Unless some of the paragraphs become the subjects of extended discussion final action can be had on the bill in one more day.

IN THE SENATE

Open Discussion of the Panama Question Continues.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate has no program for the present week beyond a continuation of the debate on the Panama question. The fact that the Gorman resolution of inquiry was disposed of last week does not change the situation except that it makes necessary a new basis for speeches. This will be supplied in the resolutions of inquiry introduced today as the result of Saturday's conference of Democratic senators. A number of addresses are still to be made on both sides of the controversy, and it is quite certain that the debate will continue for many days. It is well understood on both sides of the chamber that in reality the treaty and not any particular resolution is being discussed, the reason being that the treaty itself could not be discussed in open senate, whereas the resolution can be.
The Democrats prefer an open discussion of the question and the Republicans as a matter of policy and in the interest of the expedition of the vote on the treaty, have not objected.
When it becomes apparent that the discussion in open session is exhausted, executive sessions will be ordered and the debate will proceed behind closed doors.

It is quite well understood that the amendment to the treaty reported by the committee on foreign relations will be withdrawn before final action is taken.

A Timely Discovery.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25.—Sam Baughman, colored, was detected in blowing the safe in the ticket office of the Louisville & Nashville railway Sunday.
He had demolished desks and scattered tickets and papers over the floor and was placing blasting powder in the safe when detected by J. W. West, ticket agent. Baughman jumped through a window, West firing at him.
The police caught Baughman. The machinist who opened the safe said the entire building and other buildings would have been demolished had the fuse been lighted.

The Bedford Murder Mystery.
Bedford, Ind., Jan. 25.—Aside from certain intangible clues the police have no starting point upon which to base a theory to account for the cruel murder of Miss Sarah Schafer, the school teacher, whose mutilated body was found in a shed here Friday morning. The identity of the murderer and the motive for the crime are as much mysteries, apparently, as when the crime was discovered. A rigid investigation is being conducted and it is thought some tangible clue will be soon turned up.

How to Burn Gas Coke for the Best Results.

In order to burn Gas Coke satisfactorily, build your fire even and deep; remember, you cannot get or keep a good fire with Coke unless you do Owing to its peculiar fractured and rough grain it does not pack so closely as hard coal and leaves more in-spaces; to overcome this you must keep a deeper fire. After the Coke is well ignited, shut off the draft; if you do not want much heat, you can regulate your fire perfectly with the damper. Be sure to keep a good supply of Coke on the fire; you are not using as much weight of Coke as you would hard coal.

When leaving the fire for the night, put on plenty of Coke, and shut off the draft entirely, leaving a good bed of ashes on the grates to check the draft.
